Preface

To all my dear relatives, friends, and readers -

This writing is not a literary masterpiece and certainly is not meant to be. I'm sure you'll find inaccuracies and errors, not only typographical but in the content. I've tried to be as thorough and accurate as possible, but it is difficult when you have received information from so many sources. There are many gaps, but what I record here may help others piece together the puzzle.

I first became actively curious about my ancestors somewhere in the late 1930's, but because of the pressures of trying to make a living, I was never able to pursue researching any of my background until after my husband and I returned from the Philippines in 1969. My health at that time was at its lowest ebb, so I didn't return to working outside the home. As I improved and recuperated I then had the time to spend in libraries and genealogical sessions. Through the years I have carried on correspondence with others following the same lines as I, and what a joy it has been to help someone else as so many times I have been helped. Now, my years add up to the point where I am 'over the hill', and I feel it is time to start putting everything in order. None of us know what tomorrow will bring, so thank God this one bit of me, the results of much digging, reading, studying, corresponding, will not be lost. My one regret is that I've never been able to discover Etheldred's parentage.

I have attempted to put this in an order that can be easily followed by anyone and have inserted hand-drawn family charts so that you can better see the lineage. Beginning with Etheldred and his supposed brother 'Bird', I have assigned them 'A' and 'A-2'. I have not researched Bird Boone's line, so the remainder of this writing concerns Etheldred and his descendants. The next generation is listed as 1B, 2B, 3B, etc. until the seven known children with their known descendants are listed. Elizabeth Boone was believed to be an eighth child, but I have found nothing more on her. The next generation is listed under their parents as 1C, 2C, 3C, etc., the fourth as 1d, 2d, 3d, etc., the fifth as 1e, 2e, 3e, etc., and so on through the generations.

I would like to express my appreciation to all those who have helped me so very much; to those dear, patient souls who allowed me to 'pick their brains', and especially to my wonderful husband who has been so long-suffering, caring, helpful, and more than anyone else so very, very patient.

I shall continue 'digging' and supporting anyone else who does. There are many of us now, and any of you who have become involved in genealogy know that it is a disease and the more you learn, the more you want to learn. If there is a one anywhere who reads this and has a correction or addition, I will be most appreciative if you will just mail it to:

BOONE FAMILY

Boone.

The surname 'Boone' is found in England from the time of the Conquest and it is most likely that the name is of Norman origin.

The early spelling 'Bohun', comes from La Manche, the northwest corner of France. In 1086 in the Domesday Book, this variant is recorded, when a Bohun received the manor of Talsford. Earls of Hereford, Essex, and Northampton bore this surname. In Essex we find that in 1540 there is a record of a 'Boneshal', which in 1604 was listed as 'Bowneshall' and is currently pronounced 'Boon's Hall'.

In 1275, the name 'deBown' is found in the Hundred Rolls, a listing of property and owners taken at the direction of Edward I in order to locate new sources of revenue. The same records show a 'Boon' in Cambridgeshire in 1279.

In some cases, the name may also have been derived from the Anglo-French adjective 'le bon' meaning the good person, good companion, (boon companion) or one who was handsome. On occasion, it may have derived from the Old Norse 'buinn', meaning the 'ready'. In most instances, however, it is considered to be a 'place name', indicating someone who came from Bohun in France.

The name is found in England predominantly in Staffordshire.

Americans immediately call to mind the famed American pioneer, Daniel Boone, founder of Boonesboro, Kentucky. A man called Solomon Boone sailed from England and arrived in Bristol, Pennsylvania in 1690. William Jones Boone, an American bishop, was consecrated missionary bishop of Shanghai in 1844. He translated a prayer book into Chinese and was one of the people instrumental in the revision of the Chinese translation of the Scriptures. He graduated from the College of South Carolina in 1829 and was admitted to the bar in 1843. He also studied medicine and graduated as an M.D.

One of the grants of arms to the name shows escallops, which in some cases indicate that the bearer took part in the Crusades.

There were many Boones in early America during the Colonial period and afterwards. These first early colonists who established homes and risked unknown hardships and dangers were our forefathers and merit a special place in our histories and family pride. There are only fleeting records in most instances and very few documented records. Early records disclose the fact that in every one of the thirteen colonies there were Boones long before the Revolutionary War, and in ten of the thirteen colonies there were Boones before 1700.

Other writings have enumerated the Boones from many areas, who and when they married, their children, their exploits; all of it is history and makes for interesting reading; however, here we are trying to record what we know of our immediate forefathers, and in so doing, perhaps we can help someone else get a little farther back on the limb of our family tree.

Our oldest known ancestor is Etheldred Boone. Much research and study has gone into trying to trace from whence he came, but never has anyone been able to document his parentage or origin as a certainty. At this late date we probably will never truly know; however, there are many theories and beliefs. Since I am the author and compiler, it is my right and due to present my thoughts which have evolved after many years of reading, checking, belonging to genealogical societies and hearing their versions, and corresponding with many people throughout these United States.

It has come down through the years that Etheldred Boone was born in North Carolina in 1776 and the 1850 Census of Stewart County, Tennessee bears this out. He was a farmer and is believed to have married a 'Miss Holly' whose given name is believed to have been Mary. 'Dred' and his family traveled in a wagon caravan, according to family legend, and walked all the way from North Carolina to what is now Houston County and settled on Wells Creek near Erin, Tennessee about 1804. Pauline Thomas Bridges (Mrs. Garnett E.) of 2805 Woodlawn Drive, Nashville, Tennessee (as of 1965, 75 years of age), who is a great, grand-daughter of Charlotty Boone, the eldest daughter of Etheldred and Miss Holly, wrote that 'My daughter has an old pewter plate which has been handed down through the female line and which was brought from North Carolina by my great-grandmother, Charlotty Boon when they came through the Cumberland Gap and on to Stewart County'. Miss Dorothy Wallis, who helped compile the history record for the Boone Family Association of Washington in 1980, wrote me in 1972 that Dred lived at Hageville for many years and was living there in 1821. Hageville was about three miles east of Erin, but only a few houses are left there now. It is known that he acquired a large tract of land to homestead, and spent the remainder of his life in farming, becoming one of his locality's most substantial citizens. However, they did a lot of traveling back and forth to North Carolina as records show that their three oldest children were born in North Carolina, the next two in Tennessee, then the son Etheldred was born in North Carolina, the last two being born in Tennessee.

Bird Boone, born in North Carolina in 1790, and known as 'Buddy' is believed to have been Etheldred's brother. He was also a farmer. It is not known who he married but it is believed that they had ten children, the first eight born in North Carolina.

The earliest Boon found in Stewart County is Nathan Boon who died in 1814. In an old, unindexed roll that was black with age in the Archives in Nashville, Tennessee, information was found where there was a sale of personal effects. Nathan Skinner was administrator and Elizabeth Boon bought at the sale. This Nathan Boon could have been closely related to Etheldred; however, he died on 20 November 1814 and nothing more conclusive has been found.

Goodspeed's History of Tennessee published in 1886 says of Houston County 'Dred Boone, the celebrated North Carolina hunter and trapper, and a relative of Daniel Boone, was for many years before his death a resident of this county'. We don't know what information they had to substantiate this statement, but I'm trying to present eventualities so that each can decide for himself in the absence of actual statistics.

Another bit of unsubstantiated information was published in 'The Boone Scout of the Boone Family Association of Washington' in the issue of October, 1980. A family history of Etheldred Boone had been compiled and sent to the Boone Family Association to which they added this footnote: 'After receiving the record, one of the compilers of this fine family history found an old Bible showing his name to be 'John Etheldred Boone' instead of 'Etheldred Boone' (Ed).' I have talked to Mr. Allen Syler of Arkadelphia, Arkansas this past 21 July 1986 and he disclaims any knowledge of such a Bible. I corresponded with Dorothy Wallis of Oregon in 1972, the other compiler of this history, and she made no mention of such a bible at that time. She was a teacher and very learned, but unfortunately she has now passed away. The Boone Family Association of Washington disbanded in 1983, but I have also attempted to contact the former Historian to see if he could shed some light on this statement. I have never received an answer to my correspondence.

Mrs. Marilyn Jaynes of El Paso, Texas (Marilyn Ford Jaynes 6; Nancy Charlotte Wallis Ford 5; Mattie Mae Lowry Wallis 4; Mary Anna Broome Lowry 3; Susan Boone Broome 2; Etheldred Boone 1) in her family history writes "When I was 13 or 14 years old, I asked my Grandmother Mattie Wilson Lowry Wallis the names of some of her family, which I wrote down. Among the names was the name of her Grandfather Boone. For 27 years I have tried to locate the paper on which the name she gave me was written. Two days ago, I found that paper. The name 'Jonathan Boone' was written on the paper. Perhaps now the futile searches made over the last 12 years will come to an end, because, at last I know for whom I am searching.

Mrs. Jaynes also writes and quotes a Mattie Wallis Poole as saying our Etheldred's name was John Etheldred Boone. Also that a Mr. Burt Ansley Boone says his father also mentioned the names of Jonathan or John to him.

It has also come down through the years that our family is connected if not descended from the pioneer hunter, trapper, and settler Daniel Boone. There are references in many old books to this connection; more often that our 'Dred' was a nephew of Daniel Boone. Since so many recordings of the family history of Daniel and his forbears have been made, I'm not going to list all of this now, but will show in the addendum at the rear of this writing the information I have gathered in my research. There has been so much research through the years that only a couple of possibilities remain as to this connection.

One possibility as to the lineage of Etheldred Boone is through the line of Joseph Boone, born 5 April 1704, died 30 January 1776 in his 72nd year. He was an uncle of Daniel Boone. Hazel Atterbury Spraker in her book 'The Boone Family' writes that he married Catherine _____ who died 31 January 1778. Their descendants are not known, and no authentic knowledge of Joseph has been found except the above data from the old James Boone Genealogy. Several marriages under the name of Joseph Boone appear at various times in Exeter Records, the earliest reading as follows:- '8-30-1733, Joseph Boone produced a paper of condemnation for proceeding in marriage contrary to order'. Also a Joseph Boone,Jr. married in 1751, which may have been his son. It is said that Joseph resided on the farm in Berks County where a man named Washington Gulden lived in 1860. The name of Joseph Boone appears in a list of 76 taxables in Exeter Township, 1741, and in the land warrants of Pennsylvania, a Joseph Boone received in Philadelphia County 200 acres January 4, 1734; Joseph Boone received 200 acres March 4, 1750; and 50 acres in Lancaster County on March 4, 1750. In an indenture concerning land of Squire Boone (the original of which is in possession of the Historical Society of Berks County) Squire's property is described as adjoining lands of Joseph Boone in 1768.

The second possibility and the one which I favor is through the lineage of Jonathan Boone, Daniel Boone's older brother. He was born 17 December 1730 and married Mary Carter and lived to the ripe old age of 86. Mrs. J.F. Cahill of San Antonio, Texas, in a letter written to her by John B. Manly, Clerk of the Superior Court of South Carolina on 15 December 1916, is told that there are two instruments from James Carter to Jonathan Boone conveying specific property; and another one to Mary Boone, wife of Jonathan Boone from James Carter her father, conveying to her all personal property in Bristol Hall, which was then in the Parish of St. Lukes, Rowan County, North Carolina. From an old North Carolina book comes also this statement, which locates one James Carter in the vicinity of the Boones, ' James Carter and Hugh Foster owned the land upon which Salisbury, North Carolina was built about 1754. This is the only thing to indicate the Jonathan Boone whose wife was Mary Carter, belonged to this family. Jonathan and Mary established a home near the mouth of the White River in Randolph County, Indiana. An excerpt from Draper Manuscript, a statement of Enoch M. Boone (Squire 5; Squire 4; George 3), a nephew of Daniel Boone, made in August 1858 :-

'Jonathan Boone - came early to Kentucky - remembers him at Squire Boone's Station as early as 1783 and tended Squire Boone's mill. After a few years settled on Green River and after living there several years then settled at the Big Falls of the Wabash (near Mt. Carmel, Wabash County) on the Illinois side, not more than 15 miles, if that, above the mouth of the Wabash, where he built a mill. There he died about 1808 - don't know when his wife died, nor how old he was. Left several daughters, got mostly married on Green River; and left three sons, John, Joseph, and Daniel, who settled in the lower country. John settled somewhere in Kentucky.' John could have been our (John or Jonathan) Etheldred. He was the correct age and in the correct vicinity for Etheldred and Bird to come to Houston (then Stewart) County in the early 1800's. Jonathan Boone's mill was built about 1800 near the northern border of adjoining White County in Illinois. After his death in 1808, Joseph continued to operate the mill until he sold in 1818. He died in Big Cypress Bend, Mississippi in 1827.

'Tennessee Cousins' written by Worth S. Ray tells us that the territory comprising the present Houston County - then mostly Montgomery County, had early settlements by 1798 and 1799. It also related that Frederick Boone, said to have been related to Daniel Boone, the explorer and Indian fighter, was one of the first pioneers of the county. I believe this Frederick to be our own Etheldred as I have found no-one in these latter generations who was aware of the name 'Etheldred'. They had only heard 'Dred' and it is easy to see how that could be confused with 'Fred'; however, 'Frederick' has been one of our Boone names to be handed down through the generations.

There has been talk in the family that our modern-day entertainer, Pat Boone, was a distant relative, and indeed, there is a distinct facial resemblance. At one time in my initial early research I hired a lady in Franklin, Tennessee to go to the Archives in Nashville and 'dig' for me. During this time she called and talked to Pat Boone's grandfather, Mr. Ernest Eugene Boone, who was in the construction business in Nashville. He was not very well-informed about his forbears, but he did say that his people came from Fulton County, Kentucky. He said that his grandson, Pat Boone, had remarked on his relationship to Daniel Boone in a somewhat tongue-in-cheek manner, but that he himself knew nothing of it. Fulton County, Kentucky is just north of Stewart County, Tennessee. This information would coincide with the theory that Etheldred Boone was indeed a relative of Daniel Boone. On the following pages, I have included a partial genealogy chart of 'Pat Boone'. You will see that he is descended from Daniel Boone through his son, Daniel Morgan Boone.

Daniel Boone Legacy

A piece of beech bark carved "D Boon," near Kingsport, Tenn., is thought to be one authentic legacy among many bark forgeries of the famous name of Daniel Boone across the wilderness Boone explored in the late 18th century, says National Geographic.

d. 4 August 1873 of cholera and is buried in the Lockhart Cemetery, Erin, Tn. Family legend has it that Great-Grandpa Boone contracted cholera in 1873 during an epidemic which was sweeping the country. He realized that he wasn't going to survive so he summoned his eldest son, Etheldred (born 16 November 1839). Great-Grandpa was alleged to have been a very wealthy man and this is the reason he had called for someone close to him. He had an old, cast-iron wash kettle with his money in it, so that night his first-born saw that it was buried in the orchard. Before the night was over, he too had been stricken with the cholera and before a day had passed, both had gone to their reward. Through the years many fortune-hunters have dug up the old orchard area, used geiger counters, and all modern devices, but nothing has ever been found as far as the public knows. Now, the highway runs over the area where the orchard stood, but still people come to ask questions and wonder. The old William Boone home is still standing although it has been repaired and updated. I visited the area in October 1971 and took snapshots. The highway you see here was the location of the family orchard during Great-Grandpa's lifetime.

m. (2) After William Boone's first wife died, he married Tabitha McCain on 5 February 1862 before J. L. McMillan, J. P. She was born in Ireland and you will find her name listed in various ways (Lvtha McGowan), but the lady that I had doing research for me in the Archives in Nashville, Tn., while going through some old, unindexed files, found where William Boon married a Tabitha McCain on 5 February 1862, which fits with the information that we already have. We feel sure this lady is 'the lady from Ireland' that my mother told me about marrying my great-grandfather. We do not have a death date for Tabitha as yet, but she must have expired before the 1870 census was taken as she was not listed.

1900 Houston County Court Officials And Officers

This picture was sent by Mrs. Alice Bratschi Crow of Nashville. Identification of these people has created quite an interest on the part of some county residents. If further recognitions can be made of people in this picture, please let us know. Those identified in the back row are: (L-R) Mr. Charlie Parker, Mr. Ewing Harris, Mr. Bill Brooks, Mr. Ewing Richardson and Mr. Luther Wynn. Front row: (L-R) Mr. W.A. Boone, Mr. Wiley Pollard, Mr. Joe Lomax, Mr. George Atchison, Mr. Samuel Duncan Dillon, Mr. Billy Riel, Mr. Ol Berry Sugg, Sheriff and Mr. Josh Jones.

Lee, Ella married a Theodore Harris in Gorman, Tn. about 1912. Harris was from Peoria, Illinois. They lived together about four years, then presumably he left one day to look for work and was never heard from again.

b. 18 May 1823 in Tennessee d. 18 June 1909

Bird Boone, son of the pioneer, Etheldred Boone, grew to manhood in Stewart County which section is now located in Houston County; this county being formed on January 21, 1871. He married Elizabeth Lee, sister of James Sanford Lee, the first County Court Clerk of Houston County, and William Calvin Lee, who ran a Stage Coach from Erin to Dover in the decade of the 1880's, Margaret Lee Wingo, and John Lee who died young.

When the Civil War broke out in 1861, tension was very high in this section of Stewart County. If you were not for the Confederacy or its cause, or if you did not express yourself favorably on the matter, you were a northern sympathizer. If you favored the Union or its cause, citizens were threatened with violence. If you did not join a force of Confederate sympathizers who would not join the Confederate Army and serve in the Confederate cause, but used their influence to organize themselves into bands called Guerillas. The Guerillas used the war as an excuse to rob their friends and neighbors who could not get out of the way of the hostilities of the war, and would say the Union soldiers did it. Your life was threatened. After the surrender of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson, Mr. and Mrs. Bird Boone and family traveled to Dover, Tennessee and secured passage on a steamboat for Cairo, Illinois, settling in a town called Ashley, Illinois for the duration of the war. The town is located in Washington County, Illinois, and Nashville is the county seat of the county. Many citizens who were afraid of intimidation left this area for Union territory for their own personal safety. Dr. and Mrs. William Perry Nichols, father and mother of James Harvey Nichols (Uncle Jimmie) settled in Dix and Walnuthill, Illinois, located in Jefferson and Marion Counties. Salem is the county seat of Marion County and Mount Vernon is the county seat of Jefferson County. Dr. William Perry Nichols joined the Union Army Medical Corps as a field surgeon while he lived at Dix and Walnuthill, Illinois. Uncle Jimmie said he visited Jack, Billy, and Aunt Babe in Ashley, Illinois, and Jack, Billy, and Aunt Babe visited him in Dix and Walnuthill. Bird Boone died while living in Ashley and is buried there. Elizabeth (Aunt Betty) Lee Boone and family returned to Tennessee after peace was established between the Union and the Confederacy.

1C - John (Jack) Daniel Boone. He was known as 'Flour Mill Jack' by the people of Erin because he had a flour mill there, but prior to this, he became employed as an engineer on locomotives on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. He also was employed as a locomotive engineer for the La Grange Furnace Company at Danville, running a train to Stribling, Tennessee where the Iron Furnace was located and returning to Danville, Tennessee. It was during the railroading part of his life that he met his wife and married her. It was after that career ended that he built a steam-powered rolling mill at Erin. He ground flour, cornmeal, and livestock feeds. He raised livestock and farmed very extensively in conjunction with the rolling mill.

Boone Home Filled With Many Memories For Mrs. Lorraine Robin

By DAVID R. ROSS
Editor

Lorraine Boone Robin says that her two-story home, which is located on Erin's Maple Street, is filled with many "wonderful memories."

"I just can't tell you all of the stories about this house, there are so many," she said.

Mrs. Robin's grandfather, J.D. Boone, acquired the house "in 1895 or '96," from H.H. Buquoe in payment of a $2,000 debt.

Mrs. Robin says her grandfather, who owned a mill in Erin and Cumberland City, was a trifle eccentric.

"He dressed like a tramp but he had stern table manners," she said. On two occasions, Mrs. Robin recalls, her grandfather sent her away from the table for displaying ill manners.

"Once he made me stand in that corner (she said pointing to a corner of the dining room) because I belched. And once I said something about a sow and he made me leave the table," she said.

One day J.B. Boone fooled a wandering tramp who was preparing to enter gate in the lovely picket fence outside the Boone house.

"He told the man 'you're wasting your time there.

"The way he was dressed the man thought my grandpa was a tramp who'd already been turned away," she said.

Mrs. Robin says she's uncertain when the four original rooms of the house were built. "They were built quite some time before 1855," she said.

Additions to the first four rooms of the house house were made during 1855.

The logs used to build the original portion of the stately home were joined together by wooden pegs rather than nails.

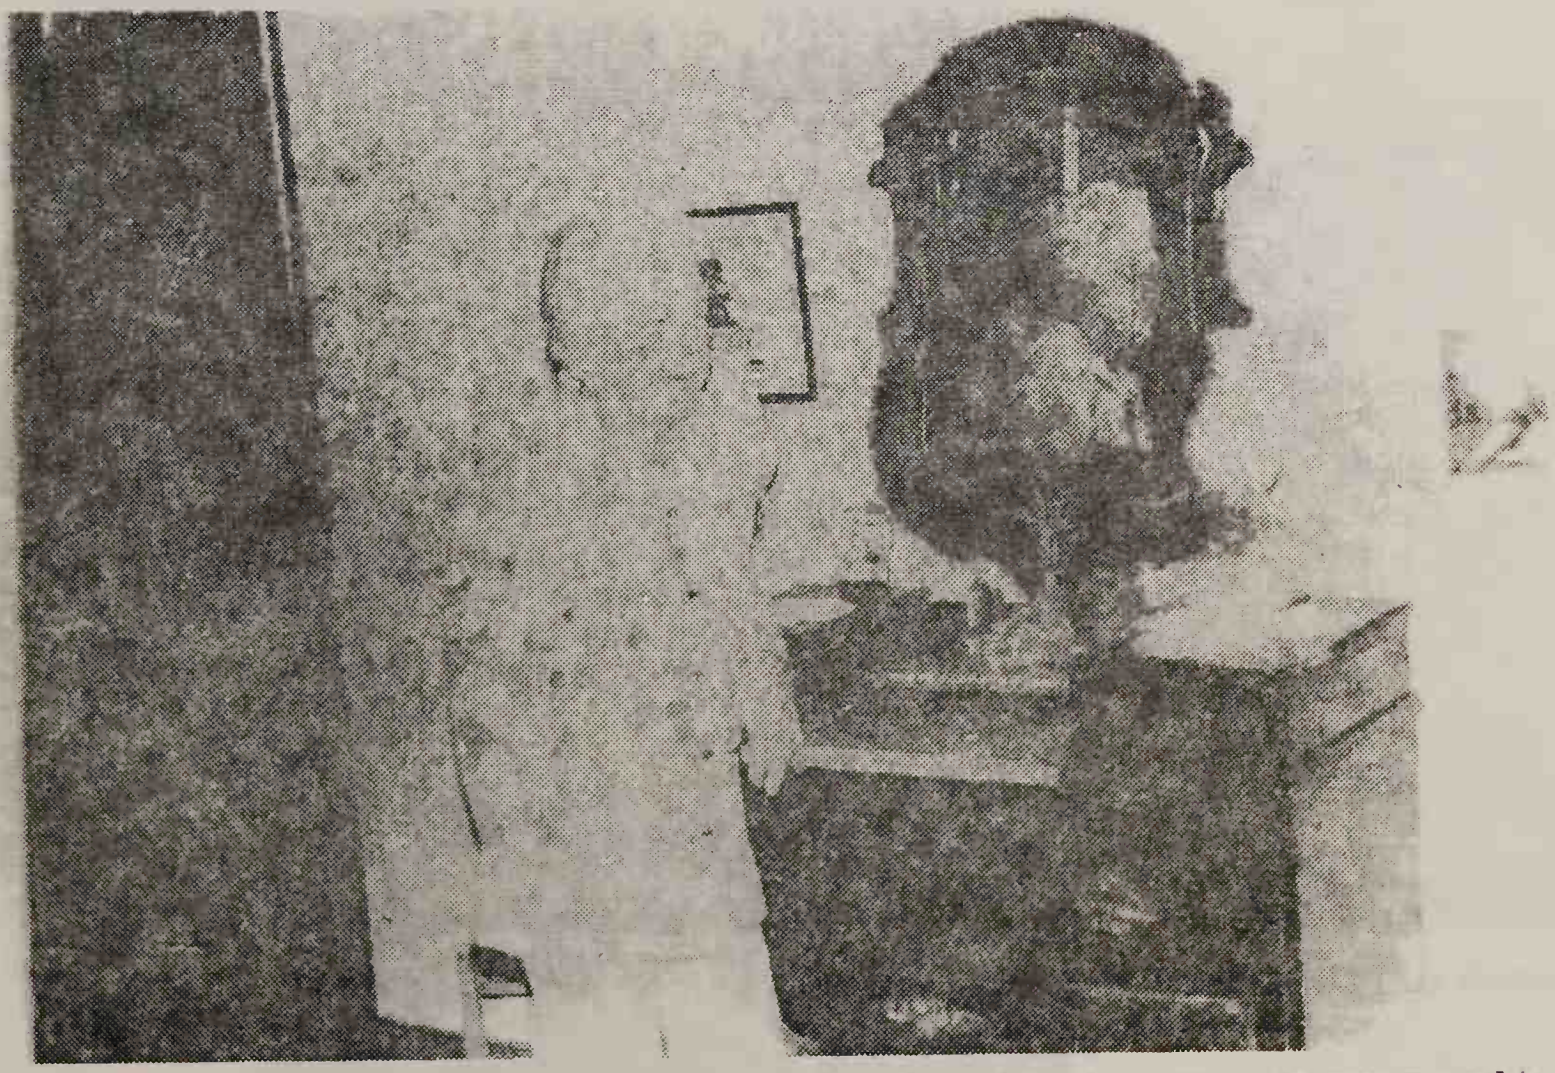
Mrs. Boone said the home has seen several changes over the years.

"Once there was an elegant gray picket fence and a wood boardwalk. Outback there was an orchard and a pasture and my father used to keep bees outside," she said.

Mrs. Boone has two very famous ancestors.

"My Great-grandmother, Elizabeth Lee Boone, was a second cousin to Robert E. Lee," she said.

According to Mrs. Robin, the Boone name can be traced back to the pioneer, Daniel Boone.



ANTIQUE FURNITURE— Mrs. Robin is standing beside a dresser which she says was the first piece of furniture that was ever moved to Houston County.

"ERIN"
There are cities broad and sunny,
There are hamlets by the sea,
There are towns all grime and smoky
But there's just one place for me.

Life is good where it is sunny,
Life is thrilling by the sea,
Life is work where grime and smoke is,
But it's not the place for me.

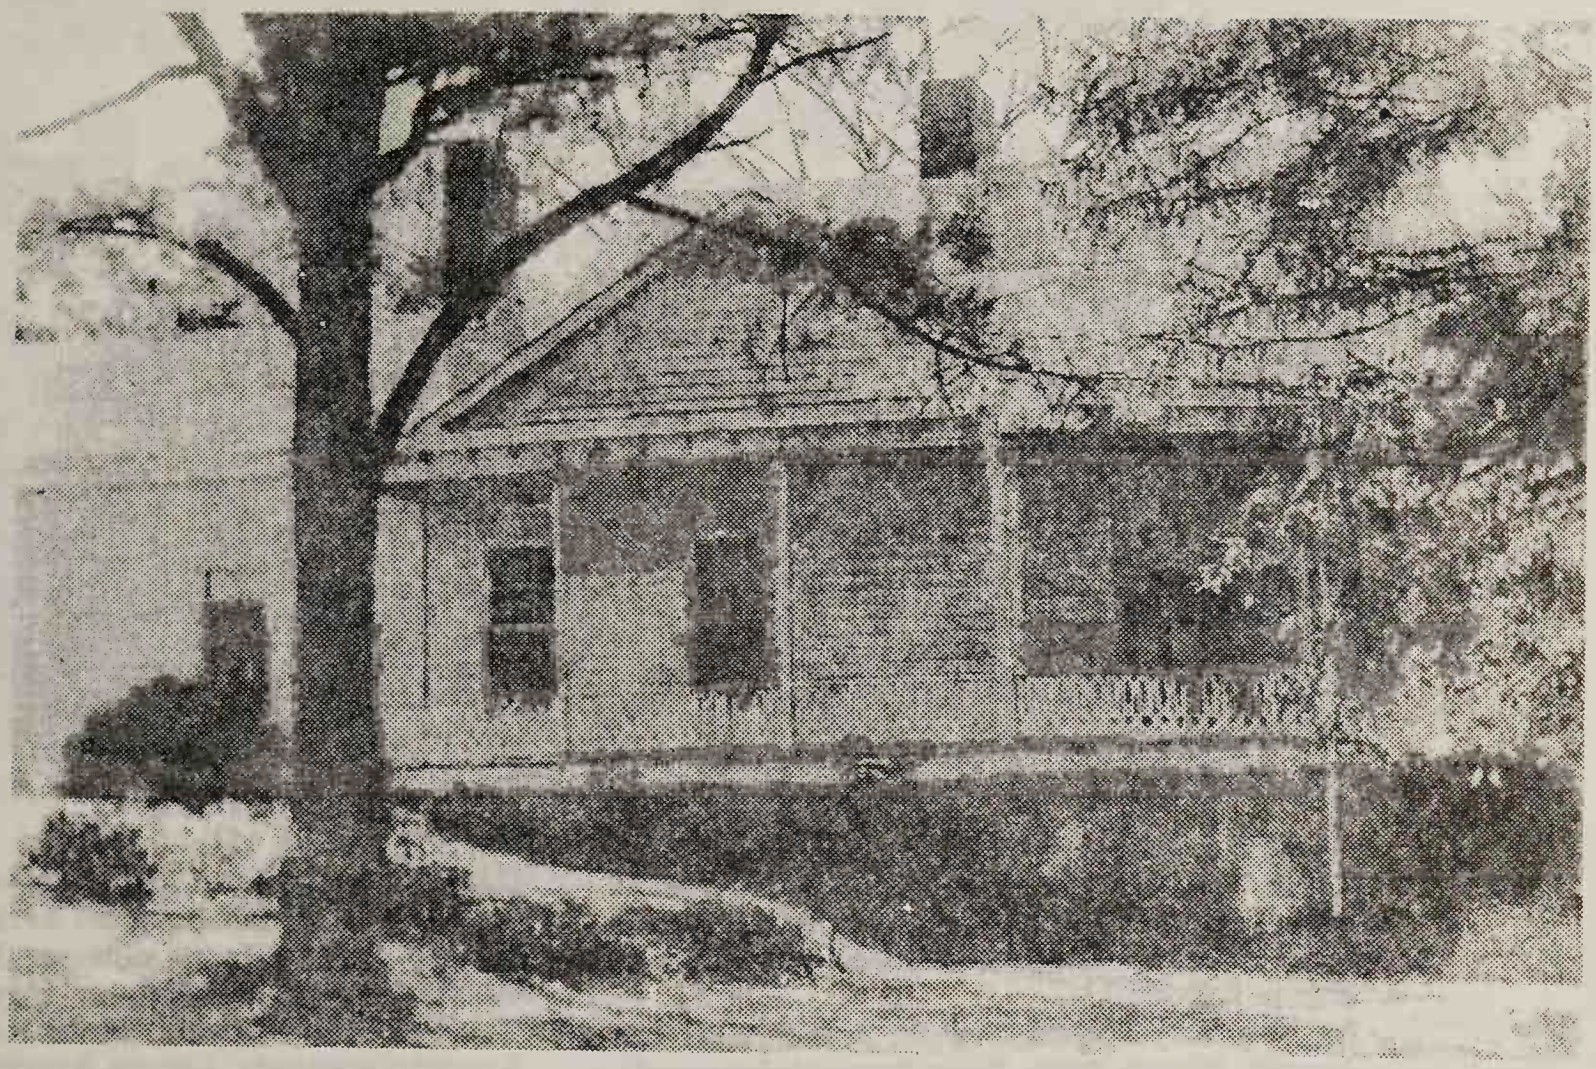
In a valley green and shady,
Where the breezes always blow,
Snuggled in among the roses,
Is a spot that all should know.

This belt is between two sections,
dark tobacco, cotton white;
It divides and yet embraces,
Lovely is this restful sight.

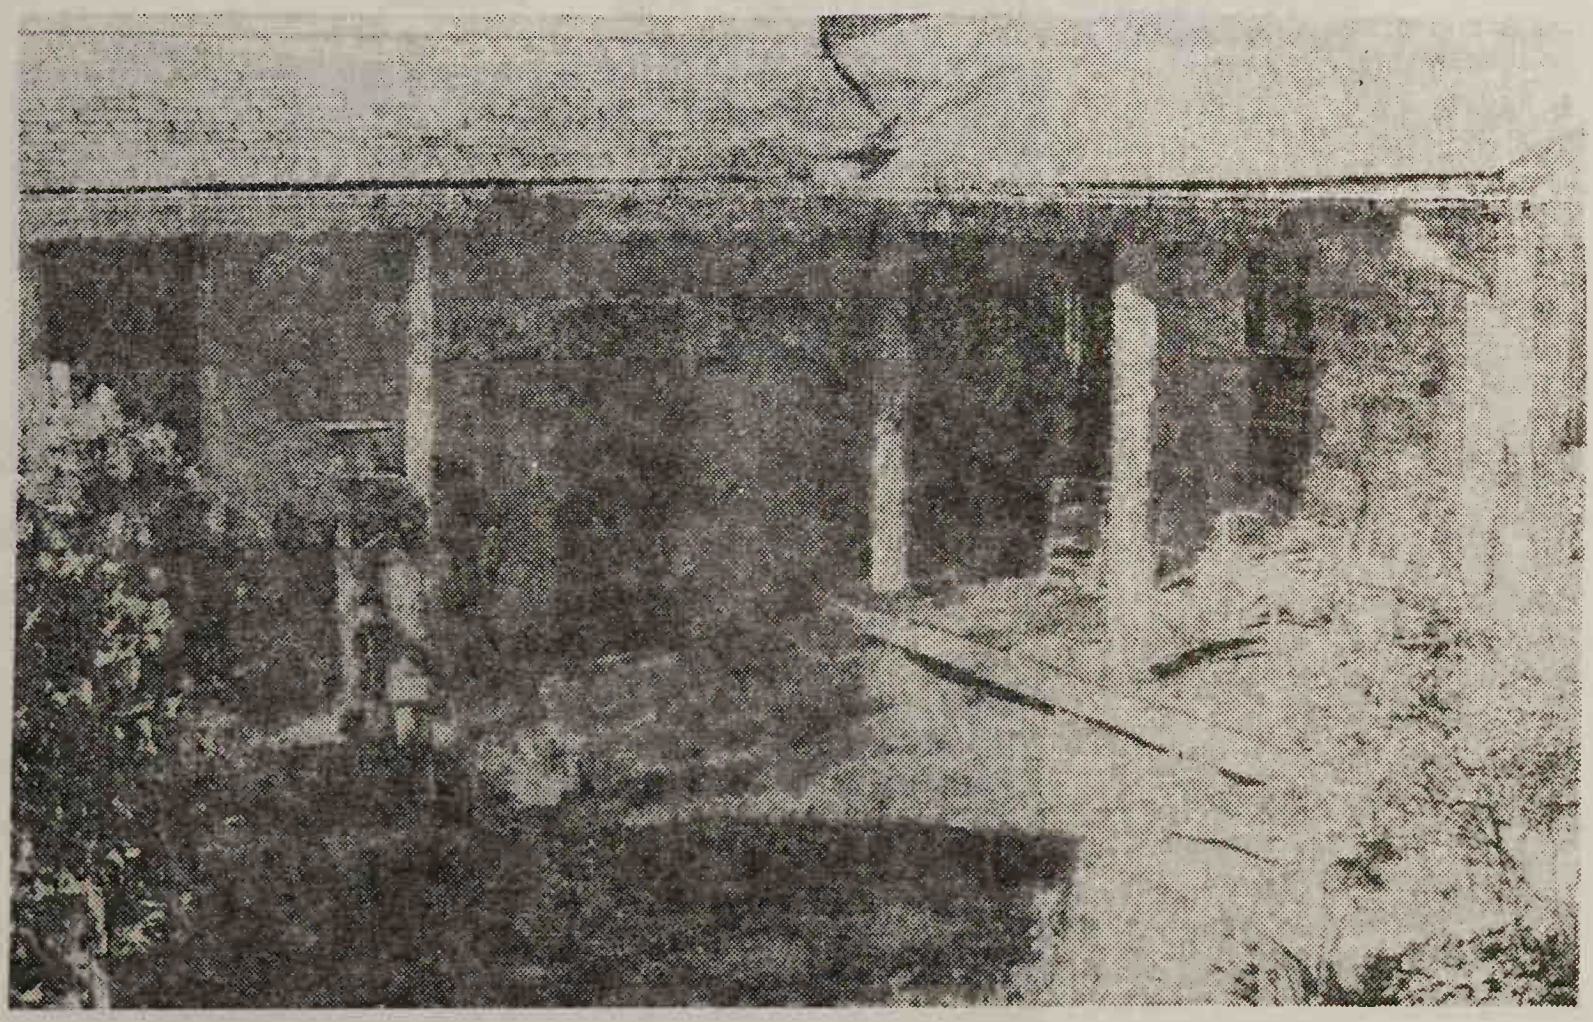
O this Irish town of Erin,
Smiling up at sunny hills,
Blessed all who work or play there,
Mid rock creeks and winding rills.

Neither cities broad and spacious,
Nor dream hamlets by the sea,
Make me think of leaving Erin,
This is just the spot for me.

ON THE STAIRCASE— Lorraine Boone Robin of Erin prepares to descend from the winding staircase in her stately Houston County home.



BOONE HOUSE— This elegant Erin home, which belongs to Lorraine Boone Robin, was built in the early 1800s.



LOOKING OUT BACK— Mrs. Robin enjoys a nice autumn afternoon in the quiet of her back-yard. She's standing in the yard of her home which is one of the oldest structures in Houston County.

mill. Subsequently he turned his attention to farming and livestock raising for a few years, and then came to Erin and was elected Circuit Court Clerk of Houston County, which office he held for three terms from 1902 until 1914. He then accepted a position as Assistant Cashier of the Bank of Erin and was active in that capacity three years, when he re-entered the livestock business, which he conducted until 1920. In that year he accepted his position as Cashier of the Houston County Bank and Trust Company. He served as Mayor of Erin for three terms.

In McLean County, Kentucky, on December 20, 1900, was celebrated the marriage of Mr. Boone and Miss Ada Patterson, the daughter of Lafayette and Sarah Elizabeth (Roland) Patterson, natives of Kentucky.

We have also heard that Bonham, Texas was named after him - this in a letter from Mrs. Ina Fagin, daughter of Joseph Boone. She says that 'Uncle Pleze used to go to Texas to his uncle to work when Daddy (Joe) was little, him and Dora. So did Uncle Dan. I guess even the old folks went once, so I heard, to see her brother John. In traveling thro the country in an ox-drawn wagon Granma (Rebecca) ran across her old coloured maid. She was married, and cried and shouted and made over our Granma. She had went with her when Granma married and went free after the War, I guess. I know Granpa went to North Carolina because Uncle Fate and my dady talked about eating fish till sick of them, and building a log house and chimney. After coming back to Tennessee, one day Uncle Plez left and came home in a long time. His old dog heard him first singing 'I'm coming home, no more to roam. Lord, I'm coming home'. It was night time, then here he was. They was so glad, he said, dog and all.'

John Alsobrooks and Ada Beckman married and homesteaded land between the Black and White Rivers, possibly Independence County, Arkansas. The family died of Swamp fever, except Tennie, one brother (John), and two sisters. Their grandfather came and moved them back to Tennessee. There Tennie later married Andrew Jackson Boone, and lived in Slayden, Tennessee near Yellow Creek. Their first child and only son, Johnny Lafayette, was born there or at Jackson, Tennessee. They left for Arkansas soon after Rebecca was born in 1882. They moved on the train, and came to Arkadelphia soon after the railroad was completed. They moved on to near Bismarck, Arkansas and share-cropped on the Henderson Diffee farm. Delphie was born here, and then the family moved to Texas with the family of Jackson's brothers, Joseph and Plez. Plez returned to Tennessee after leaving Texas. (See picture of two of his children photographed at Waxahachie, Texas). Jackson and Tennie's fourth child, Lue, was born in Texas,

Vows With James H. Davis in Rites

At Caney Baptist Church Near Here

The Caney Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Brenda Bost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Bost, to James H. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Davis of Arkadelphia, at 8 p. m. on August 21.

The vows were pledged before a background of an ivy entwined arch flanked by floor standards of daisies and white gladiola with white cathedral tapers in ivy entwined candelabra. Elder O. T. Hardin, grandfather of the bride, officiated. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Clinton Sanders pianist, and Clinton Sanders was soloist. The little Misses Donna and Kathy Whitley, Karen Smith, Carla Freeland, and Kayla Smith sang the Evening Prayer and the Lord's Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white chantilly lace gown with a scooped neckline embroidered in seed pearls. The long fitted sleeves were tapered to lily points over the wrists, and the skirt had alternate panels of lace and tulle ruffles from the waist to the floor, and swept to a chapel train. She wore a single strand of pearls and the fingertip veil of French illuson was held in place by a crown of crystals and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with stephanotis and centered with an orchid.

Miss Donna Prince was maid of honor, and attired in a street length dress of turquoise satin with a curved neckline, and a floating back panel. She wore a crown of turquoise glitter with a malline veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations and glamallia. Miss Libby Bost, sister of the bride, and Miss Ovita Goolsby, served as bridesmaid, and were attired in dresses similar to the maid of honor.

Wayne Buck of Arkadelpha served as best man, and David and Danny Bost, brother of the bride, were candlelighters. David Whitley was ringbearer and little Miss Cheryl Whitley was flower girl.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bost was attired in a street length dress of pink lace, and her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Davis, mother of the groom, wore a dress of beige silk, and her flowers were yellow carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The table was covered with a white lace cloth over pink and was centered with an arrangement of white carnations. Those assisting were, Miss Paula Hardin, Mss Carolyn Burrs, Mrs. Farrell Hall and Mrs. Winston Thornton. Miss Sheila Shinn was in charge of the bride's book.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Bismarck High School. Mr. David attended Henderson State Teachers College, and is employed at Arkadelphia Auto Parts.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a pink crepe sheath and her accessories were white. She pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

After a wedding trip to the Smokey National Park, the couple is at home in Arkadelpia.

MARVIN HOLMES

Marvin Holmes, who won the second biggest cash purse at the 1957 rodeo at Little Rock, will be in the competition this year. He is a resident of Pickens, Okla. This year he will enter the bareback and saddle bronc riding events.

Top Rodeo Winners Here Again

Lanham Riley and Marvin Holmes, the two top money winners of the rodeo here last year, will headline the field of top ranking cowboy contestants who will return to Little Rock this week to compete at the annual Arkansas Livestock Exposition Rodeo.

The field of entries this year will include at least three present and past world's champion cowboys.

Riley, a calf-roping specialist from Ft. Worth, is a 20-year veteran of professional rodeo competition who has taken top money at many of the nation's top cowboy contests. He won the calf roping at the famed Cheyenne Frontier Days rodeo in 1957, came to Little Rock as the top seeded entry in the roded here.

Riley fulfilled his expectations as the odds-on favorite when he won the first go round in calf roping here, placed fourth in the second go and won the average.

Riley won a total of $1,333 in prize money, the biggest individual slice of the purse here last year.

Second biggest money winner and all around cowboy of the rodeo was bronc riding specialist Marvin Holmes, Pickens, Okla. Holmes, who will be up in both saddle bronc riding and bareback riding this year, worked all three riding events last year, winning the bareback riding and placing second in bull riding. His winnings added up to $1,112.

In the roping events Riley can expect a run for his money this year from two Oklahoma steer roping champions, Clark McEntire, Kiowa, and Shoat Webster,

ALL DAN'L BOONE'S CHILLUN GOT ANVILS

By The AP Feature Service

SPRUCE PINE, N.C. — Daniel Boone is down in the history books as a scout, trail-blazer and terror of the Red-skins but to Kelse Boone the fifth in direct descent, he was most of all a handy man with iron.

"The Boones have always been blacksmiths," says Kelse, six-foot-two-giant who calls himself "the runt" of the family of ten children.

"My daddy, Kelse Boone, was a good one. His daddy, Jim, shoed horses and made iron and you will still find it in homes around here. Jim's daddy, Squire Boone, was the first Boone to run a shop around here. He was born in Kentucky and moved here.

"Squire's daddy was Daniel, and he was a blacksmith, though most folks don't think of that."

So it follows that Kelse's sons, Daniel and Wade, are smithies. These descendants of rugged old Daniel Boone have put art into their hammering of the white-hot metal on the anvil and the craftsmanship of their mountain forge has travelled around the world.

They are working now on ironwork for restoration of historic Williamsburg. Authentic andirons, hinges, latches, knobs and other pieces from their forge will help remake the colonial Virginia city as it was in the time of George Washington.

Young Daniel is the artist of the family. He still is a blacksmith, though, and when he finishes with the designing pencil he dons the leather apron with his brothers and hammers the metal to the pattern.

Old Kelse, the father, operates his own shop at nearby Burnsville.

Death

Ruby Jones

Mrs. Ruby Wright Jones, 74, of Arkadelphia, widow of Lewis C. Jones, died today at a Clark County hospital.

She was a life long resident of Clark County and was a member of the Faith Missionary Baptist Church of Arkadelphia. She was born in Amity, a daughter of the late W. A. and Nora Dafford Wright.

Survivors include two sons, Charles Jones of Houston, and Joe Jones of Reno, Nev.; three daughters, Mrs. Alta Fay Garner of Amity, Mrs. Eva Perdue of Sulphur Springs, Texas and Mrs. Doris Baker of Bossier City, La.; a brother, Andy Wright of Arkadelphia; a sister, Mrs. Ludy Perry of Arkadelphia; 16 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Murry Ruggles Funeral Home.

m. Suzanna Brewer. He was 22 when they married. He said she was 16 in April; they married in June. He must have been 22 in June. She was raised by kin folks, the Wommick families. Her great uncle, Ben Wommick, mostly raised her with his big family. Her father's name was Elie Brewer, a soldier left over by the Civil War. He lost all his first family in the War. He was much older than she was, a handsome man, who came from Mississippi to visit. He raised a family of three children. Suzanna's mother was named Betistea (not sure of spelling). She died at age 19, leaving Suzanna at age 2; her father left out, and they were all mad at him. There was a lot of the Wommicks. Grandpa Brewer was Irish, Suzanna was Irish and English. Little Grandma died in childbirth.

'I don't remember my uncles very well. I remember seeing Aunt Gennie, Uncle Dan's wife, more so after he died. I guess she had a small baby - Mr. Buckingham's son. I remember Aunt Dora and kids, also Aunt Martha and family. I can remember Uncle Fate. They had all the kids but Minnie when they left Tennessee. They left out for Texas early in my life. Soon as we got to Texas, I remember going with him to see the pigs eat. He gave me a pig, and I chose the runt. He said he knew I would. He was a dear man; he loved children. I was fond of him. I laughed at him for shaking with a chill and he said he would give me a week to have one. I did. I was awful sick for a day or so. When we lost Hattie, we left out for Arkansas, and that was the end of our chills and fever. Guess it was the same with Aunt Betsy and children.' -- From the letter written by Mrs. Ina Fagin, daughter of Joseph Boone.

Vic Buddy, and Joseph, a baby, name unknown. She gave Vic away to a nice couple. Joe died at 3 years with pneumonia. Stealey, her man, 'shabed' out and left them before she gave Vic away and Joe died. In 1901 Mollie was seen by someone, on foot going to Erin, Tennessee with a man to buy a license to get married. Last we eve heard of her. We left for Texas the next year. I alway wanted to go back; so did Uncle Plez and my father Joe."

After Bright Boone's (7B, page 137 - page 147) death, Rebecca married a man named 'Scales'. They had one daughter, Kathryn (Kittie) Scales, born in December, 1887, in Arkansas, who married a man named Pearson and died without issue.

SUPPLEMENTAL SECTION

I have created this section to include records that came in after typing was finished. As there was no way this new information could be inserted, it would have necessitated retyping many pages as well as altering the index. I am also using it to give you history, census records, and other items of interest to Boone descendants which I have acquired along the way but which did not exactly fit into the content of this writing. Some of the information may pertain to our Boones, but much of it does not; however, it may be just what someone is looking for to answer their question.

Information received after typing was completed:

W. A. Boon, born 6 March 1861 in Godair Township, Missouri, son of Henry H. & Malinda Curtner Boon (Henry Boon was born in Tennessee and died in Pemiscot Co., Missouri in 1879; Malinda Curtner of Lake Co., Tennessee was born about 1833. They were the parents of seven children, four of which were George W., J. C., P. W. L., and W. A.) W. A. married Mary Crocker, born in Arkansas in 1869, dau of Alfred Crocker. W. A. & Mary Crocker Boon were the parents of at least one child - Harrison A. Boon.
(This may be the son of Henry Boon, son of Brighton Boone (see page 136))

Pollie Boone, born in Obion County, Tennessee in 1839, died 1885, daughter of Anderson Boone, descendant of Daniel Boone, married #1 - Nicholas Newton, #2 - Judge Robert Belson, native of New Madrid County, Missouri. They were the parents of three children - Henry H., Ann E., and Adam Belson.

A granddaughter of Daniel Boone married Ignatius Medley who served in the American Revolutionary War.

Benjamin Huff came from Germany to Breckenridge County, Kentucky in early days and was a settler with Daniel Boone with whom he used to hunt.

Reuben Owen's wife's mother was a niece of Daniel Boone.

J. A. Boone was a member of the bar in Mississippi County, Missouri in early 1850's. J. A. Boone was Chief Patriarch of Masonic Lodge, Charleston Encampment, No. 103, organized on February 6, 1888 at Charleston, Missouri.

Rev. George William Boon, born in Obion County, Tennessee on 6 April 1858, son of Reuben & Eliza Crunk Boon, natives of Maury County, Tennessee. Reuben was a farmer and carpenter and died in Obion County, Tn. in 1869 at about 45 years of age. Eliza died in Lake County, Tennessee in 1877. They were the parents of five children, four of whom were - George William, Lucinda (wife of Grigg Holt), Mollie E. (wife of Walter Galloway), and John L. Boon. George William married Eva V. Bivens who was born in Pemiscot County, Missouri.

George Boone I was from Exeter, Devonshire, England, and it was there that his son, George Boone II was born. George Boone II married Sarah Uppey and died at age 60 as did his wife. Their son, George Boone III, was born 1666 at Stoak, near Exeter, England, and was a weaver by trade. He married Mary Maugridge who was born 1669 in Bradnich, England and died 2 February 1740. Both were Quakers and had children George IV, born 13 July 1690, died 1753; Sarah, born 18 February 1691 or 2; Squire, born 25 November 1696, OS; John, born 1701 or 2; Mary, born 23 September 1699; Joseph, born 5 April 1704; Benjamin, born 16 July 1706; James, born 7 July 1709; Samuel, born 1711. George IV, Sarah, and Squire came to Philadelphia about 1712 or 13. We find George married to Deborah Howell on 27 July 1713 and living at Abington, Philadelphia teaching school, languages, mathematics, and Quaker religion with his wife; also Surveying, and was a Magistrate. George's mother and father, George III, left Bradnich on August 17 with six children for Bristol where they set sail for Philadelphia, arriving there 29 September 1717. They visited son George for a few months, then they went to North Wales where they remained until 1720 when he and all of his family went to Oley Township with all their children where Sarah lived. She had married Jacob Stover (Stuber - Stowber) 15 March 1715. George built a log house south of Oley where he lived the Quaker custom. No stone marks his grave. George's wife Deborah was born in 1691 and died in 1759. George IV and Deborah had children - George V, born 3 July 1717, died 1737; Mary, born 10 April 1716; Hannah, born 20 September 1718 at Abington, Pennsylvania. All others were born at Exeter, Pennsylvania. Deborah was born 18 February 1720; Dinah, born 18 January 1722; William, born 18 November 1724; Josiah, born 6 March 1726 or 7; Jeremiah, born 6 September 1729, died 1787; Abigail, born 9 October 1732; Hezekiah, born 22 May 1734. In his will filed in Berks County in 1753, George IV appointed William and Josiah as special guardian for their mother. Josiah was given a sawmill and timber land. He was reprimanded for marrying 'out of the church' on 30 May 1750 by Quaker meeting. Josiah and wife lived at Exeter until he took a removal out 24 May 1762; then we find him next on Linvil Creek, Virginia, where he buys land of John and Katherine Bean on 17 August 1768. He later sold to Micheal Shank on 17 March 1777, the deed signed by Hannah H. and Josiah Boone, Sr., 100 acres being a few miles south of Timberville, Virginia.

George Boone of Oley, Pennsylvania bought 1500 acres on south end of North Mountain on Holman Creek of Jacob Stover, also land on Boones' Run in eastern part of Rockingham County. Before the Revolutionary War the oldest son inherited all of the property. Although George IV gave to all of his children, there is no record that his father did give to all of his children. Holman Creek rises in the south end of North Mountain, flows north, then east into the Shenandoah north of Quickville. On this creek was Holman Ford, about 3 miles northwest of Timberville where lived a Holman family who had a daughter Hannah. This is where Josiah visiting his father's property, forgot all about the Quaker church and married Hannah out of the church. Josiah and Hannah had children George VI, Josiah, Jr., Deborah, Jeremiah who was born 29 February 1760. All of them were born in Pennsylvania. Josiah, not being a good Quaker, they would not keep a record of his children in the church.

Josiah, Jr., or Josiah Noah as the mother wished him called, had a daughter Hannah, born at Boonesborough, Kentucky, in 1786, married James Barnhill in 1804, died in 1862.

Jeremiah married Joyce Nevil (Neville) at Stanford, Kentucky on 9 May 1787. She came from Virginia with her parents when she was 11 years old. She died 27 June 1861 at 93 years, 1 month, 12 days old.

Josiah Noah and Jeremiah were in Captain Samuel Kirkham's Company with Colonel Daniel Boone and General George R. Clark in the Northwest Indian War in Indiana and Illinois. They mustered out in Stanford where they received their pay 22 October 1782. Jeremiah went to Lawrence County, Indiana in 1817 where he died on his farm one mile southwest of the Dry Ford on Indian Creek in 1832. He had children Sarah, Elijah, Simeon. Charlotte married Reuben Mayfield on 27 October 1814. He was born in 1792, she in 1794 in Kentucky. He was a war veteran of 1812 from Somerset, Kentucky under Captain Samuel Tate Roberts' brother. Mahala married John Dishman, Hannah married Adam Marrow, Noah married Jane Rhodes. Charlotte and Reuben's son, Alexander Campbell, married Winnie Short on 12 January 1854 at Springville, Indiana. They had children Ila, Mary Charlotte, Reuben N., Wesley S., and Inda Slater, of Ferndale, Washington. Winnie was the daughter of Milton Short and Mary Tate, daughter of Robert Tate.

Squire and Sarah, daughter of Edward Morgan, Revolutionary War soldier, married 23 September 1720 in Berks County, Pennsylvania, went to Bucks County where 3 or 4 of their children were born, then returned to Exeter. Sarah was born 1724, Israel in 1726, Samuel in 1728, Jonathan in 1730, Elizabeth in 1732, Daniel on 22 October 1734, Mary in 1736, George in 1739, Edward in 1740, Squire in 1744, Hannah in 1746. On 1 May 1750 Squire and all of his family went to Yadkin, North Carolina in Davidson County where he died in 1765, his wife in 1777 at age 77 years. They are buried in Jeppe Cemetery, Mocksville, North Carolina.

Daniel married Rebecca Bryan in North Carolina on 14 August 1756. She was born 9 January 1739 and died 18 March 1813 at St.Charles, Missouri. He died 26 September 1820 at 85 years, 11 months, 4 days of age. Both are buried in Frankfort, Kentucky Cemetery in 1845. They had children James in 1757, Israel in 1759, Susannah in 1760, Jemima in 1762, Levina in 1766, Rebecca in 1768, Daniel Morgan in 1769, Jesse Bryan in 1773, William in 1776, and Nathan in 1781. Daniel Boone fought in Braddocks' defeat in 1755 with Washington, was in Captain Ed B. Dobb's Company in North Carolina.

Sarah, born 18 June 1724 was the first child of Squire and Sarah. Her marriage outside the church brought censure upon her father. She married John Wilcox or Wilcoxson.

Israel, born 20 May 1726, whose marriage outside resulted in his father's being disfellowshiped by the Friends' meeting. Israel also was 'disowned' by the church. The name of his wife is unknown although she was not an Indian as some stories allege. There were four children, three of whom were active Baptists. They never went to Kentucky according to one descendant, Alice H. Boone.

Samuel, born 31 May 1728, was a soldier of both Kentucky and Virginia. He married Sarah Day and lived to be 88 years old. He had six children. One of them, Thomas, was killed in the Battle of Blue Licks.

Elizabeth, born 16 February 1732, married William Grant and had 11 children, at least two of which were killed by Indians. She lived to be 93 years old.

Mary Boone, born 14 November 1736, married William Bryan (Rebecca's uncle-Rebecca Bryan married Daniel Boone.) They had ten children.

George, born 13 January 1739, was the lame son. He married Ann (Nancy) Linville.

Edward, or 'Ned', born 30 November 1740, married another Bryan - Martha Bryan, Rebecca's sister. They had six children before he was killed by Shawnee Indians at Hinkston Creek, Kentucky.

Squire, Jr., born 16 October 1744, married Jane Van Cleve in the Yadkin area. They had five children, one son who married Hannah Boone, and one daughter Sarah married into the Wilcoxson's. Squire was an Indian fighter, hunter, and trail blazer, was Daniel's companion on many an adventure, and as important to Indiana as Daniel was to Kentucky.

Hannah was born 24 August 1746 and first married John Stewart and had four children. John was lost in the wilderness about January 1770 and his body was not found until some five years later. Hannah remarried to a Richard Pennington and they had four more children. She died 9 April 1828.

This biography of Daniel Boone was taken from Appletons' Cyclopedia of American Biography, edited by James Grant Wilson and John Fiske, and published in 1887:

Daniel Boone, pioneer, born in Bucks Co., Pa., 11 Feb., 1735; died in Missouri, 26 Sept., 1820. Among the immigrants that landed, 10 Oct., 1717, at Philadelphia was George Boone, of Exeter, England, who came with his wife and eleven children, bought land near Bristol, Bucks Co., Pa., and joined the Society of Friends. His son, Squire Boone, married Sarah Morgan, and Daniel was their son. Squire Boone, who was a farmer, moved about 1748 to Holman's Ford on the Yadkin in North Carolina. Daniel's education was very limited; he could read and write but beyond that all he knew related to the fields, the woods, the net, the rifle, and hunting. He was a hunter born, and loved the solitude of the forest. Strong, brave, lithe, inured to hardship and privation, he traced his steps through the pathless forest, sought out the hiding-places of panther, bear, and wolf, and was the match of any Indian in the sagacity with which he detected the footsteps of the red man. About 1755 he married Rebecca Bryan and set up his own log-cabin, but, displeased with the encroachments of civilization on his solitude, and incited by the glowing accounts brought by John Finley, who had penetrated into the unknown regions of Kentucky, formed a company of six kindred spirits, and bidding adieu to his family and the comforts of home, on 1 May 1769, set out on his perilous journey of exploration. After numerous adventures with the Indians, having become intimately acquainted with the character of the country, established an enviable reputation for sagacity and integrity on important frontier service assigned to him by Lord Dunmore in the campaign against the Indians, usually called 'Lord Dunmore's War', and constructed a strong fort on the left bank of Kentucky River, which he named 'Boonesborough', he determined to bring his wife and family to the new home. Some of his neighbors joined him, and he conducted the party, numbering upward of thirty, safely to 'Boonesborough' without having encountered any other difficulties than such as are common to this passage. On one occasion Boone, with an armed party of thirty men, had gone for a supply of salt to a place called 'Salt Licks', nearly 100 miles north of Boonesborough, and was captured, with twenty-seven of his men, by a band of more than 100 Indian warriors led by two Frenchmen. They carried them first to Old Chillicothe, on the Miami, and then to Detroit, where they surrendered for a ransom all their prisoners except Boone; him they took back to Old Chillicothe, where the great Blackfish, a renowned Shawanese chief, adopted him into his family under an imposing but painful ceremonial; all his hair, except a tuft three or four inches in diameter on the crown of the head, was plucked out; that tuft was allowed to grow to the length of the 'war-lock', dressed with feathers and ribbons; an ablution in the river was supposed to cleanse him from the taint of white blood; a coat of paint on his face, and a solemn charge from Blackfish, completed the rite. After a prolonged and anxious residence among them, during which he was kindly treated, he discovered their intention of marching upon Boonesborough, and resolved, at the peril of certain death in the event of recapture, to attempt his escape and save his family and friends. Chased by 450 Indians, he performed that daring feat in the forty-third year of his age, and thus simply records it: "On the 16th of June, before sunrise, I departed in the most secret manner, and arrived at Boonesborough on the 20th, after a journey of 160 miles, during which I had but one meal."

At the fort he learned that his wife and children, despairing of ever seeing him again, had returned, and safely reached her father's home in North Carolina. The Indians assailed the fort, but were repelled with loss, and retreated. Boone then, in the autumn of 1778, rejoined his family on the Yadkin, and returned with them to Kentucky in 1780. The country, though well settled, was still unsafe, and, soon after his return, Boone and his brother Squire were surprised by Indians; Squire was killed and scalped, and Daniel had a narrow escape. A sanguinary engagement, called the 'Battle of the Blue Licks' took place in 1782, in which Boone's two sons fought at his side. One of them was killed, and the other severely wounded. Boone was full of expedients, and on one occasion extricated himself from four armed Indians by blinding them with tobacco-dust. Kentucky was admitted into the Union 4 February 1791, and in the survey of the state the title to Boone's land was disputed. The case was decided against him, and, stung to the quick by the wrong, he had again to seek a new home, which he established at Point Pleasant, between the Ohio and the Great Kanawha; but in 1795 he removed to Missouri, then a Spanish possession, and received not only the appointment of Commandant of the Femme Osage district, but a grant of 8,000 acres. The Spanish possessions passed into the hands of Napoleon, who sold them to the United States, and, in the survey that followed, the Spanish grant of Boone's lands was pronounced invalid. An appeal to the legislature of Kentucky, and another to Congress, resulted in a grant by the latter of 850 acres. Boone was then seventy-five years of age, hale and strong. The charm of the hunter's life clung to him to the last, and in his eighty-second year he went on a hunting excursion to the mouth of Kansas River. He had made his own coffin and kept it under his bed, and after his death they laid him in it to rest by the side of his wife, who had passed away seven years before. On 13 September 1845 their remains were removed to the cemetery near Frankfort, Kentucky, a few miles from the fort of Boonesborough, by the concurrent action of the citizens of Frankfort and the legislature of Kentucky. His son, Enoch, born in Boonesborough, Kentucky in 1777; died 8 March 1862, was the first white male child born in Kentucky. Daniel Boone's wife, with her daughters, went to live with her husband in his palisaded fort in June, 1776, and while there gave birth to this son; but after Boone's capture, on 7 February 1778, his family returned to North Carolina.

DANIEL BOONE

During the 1760's most of Middle Tennessee was hunted over or explored by the curious. By 1769 the Cumberland area was known to many. Both the east and west rivers were charted and the country was mapped. In 1783 North Carolina sent commissioners to Middle Tennessee to survey the land which the state had granted to the officers and soldiers of its Continental Army. These surveying parties visited the land that is now Houston County and many of the early creeks and land names of the county came from this time. Many of these land grants went to people carrying the name of Boone. One in particular was Joseph Boone, who for his military service to the state of North Carolina, Warrant #5011 - Nov. 30, 1797, entered Aug. 8, 1807 by #141, the State of Tennessee granted 278 acres in Stewart County to Wm. Outlaw, assignee of Joseph Boon. - Signed by Gov. Blount on Feb. 23, 1810. Location of this land was in 1st district, 23 range, 5th section, north side Tennessee River below mouth of Cane Creek, surveyed Sept. 7, 1809 by Robert Prince. Etheldred Boone did not get a grant for military service during the Revolutionary War as he did not participate - this was before his time - but he did later buy grants from the State of Tennessee as well as from private parties.

Houston County, Tennessee lies between Stewart and Humphreys Counties, was established 21 January 1781, and the territory set aside for it was taken from parts of Dickson, Humphreys, and Stewart Counties. It was also given a part of Montgomery County, subject to a vote of the residents of that part of Montgomery County, who, however, voted against the change. - This from Ramsey's Annals, page 703.

1808 was a little bit early for Western Tennessee. Early maps show this area as being 'south of the Ohio River' ot 'Territory south of the Ohio River'. While Stewart County, formed in 1803, snd Humphreys County, formed in 1809, had a part of their area in early Western Tennessee, it is likely that some of our ancestors were identified with the western part of so-called 'Middle Tennessee', centered on Nashville, Tennessee.

FROM GOODSPEED'S HISTORY OF TENNESSEE - Published in 1886:

Cedar Hill, a thriving village on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, about seven miles west of Springfield, has a population of about 300. The town has been entirely built since the completion of the railroad in 1858, when the citizens of the vicinity erected a depot. The land upon which the town is built belonged to Jefferson W. Gooch, who sold all lots with the proviso that liquor in quantities less than a quart whould not be sold thereon. As a result no saloon has ever been established. The first store was built and occupied by Bartlett & Morris as a dry goods store. Miles Jackson built the first dwelling, and a little later B. H. Boone built a dwelling and grocery story. (This was in Robertson County.)

In 1856 a plot was discovered among the slaves of Stewart County for a general uprising of the race and the striking of a blow for freedom. A feeling of unrest and apprehension prevailed among the white people throughout 1854 and 1855, it being evident to a careful observer that mischief was brewing among the blacks. They would hold meetings on Sundays and of nights in secret places, and were instigated by several white men who claimed to be preachers. The plot was disclosed to the white citizens in December, 1856, and a vigilance committee was at once organized at Dover. Slaves from all parts of the county were arrested and carried before the committee, and under pain of severe punishment or death were made to confess. The object was that on a given day the slaves would arise, overpower their masters, arm themselves, and push across the country to Hopkinsville, Ky., and then march into Ohio, where they supposed they would be free. Six of the ringleaders were captured and hung by the vigilants at Dover a few days before Christmas, in 1856, and a large number were severely whipped. To make the execution of the negroes impressive a citizen of Dover (now living) cut off the heads of the dead slaves, and hoisting them on poles paraded the streets during the day of the hanging, displaying the ghastly, gory objects to the terrified negro population.

And they have the gall to talk about 'the good old days'!!!!!!

From MOORE FAMILY HISTORY by E. R. Locke - 1942:

Daniel Boone had a grandson, black, 'Collin', born 23 January 1828, a son of Aunt Vinie (Malvina). Collin was very intelligent and quite prosperous, owning a good farm and stock. Collin was freed just before the Civil War began. Malvina also had a great-grandson named Nathan born in 1854. He and his mother lived in the cabin that is now in the northwest corner of the yard of the Locke home, to which the family moved in January 1864.

From the Edwardsville, Illinois Intelligencer - 30 September 1981

Mrs. Joy Upton, a founding member of the Madison County Illinois Genealogical Society, who lives in Troy, Illinois and supplements her income as a Collinsville librarian by tracing people's pasts, has discovered some little-known facts about Daniel Boone's family life by digging through county records in Kentucky. One of the more interesting details -

Sometimes history books spare us from painful detail. Take Daniel Boone - the BIG man - of Kentucky lore. Once, while Boone was out chasing bears, his young wife, Rebeccah, gave birth to a girl. When Boone returned from his several month sojourn in the woods he learned of the child, and also learned his brother was the father.

Confronted with this fact, Boone supposedly said to his wife, " At least you kept it in the family." He went on to favor that child, Jemima, more than the eight other children he fathered. Later, while Boone was on a similar expedition, the same thing happened. Only this time Boone's brother sired a son.

"Now, you won't find that in the history book," Joy Upton noted. "But it's all documented."

Harrison Co., Ky. - William Boone Will Book C - Page 321
Names Mary Boone Godman. Written 9-2-1834

From Ramsey's Annals (pp 103-4)

'Tennessee Cousins' written by Worth S. Ray, page 168, tells that Henry Massengill and his family came from North Carolina to the Watauga Settlement in 1769. His plantation near the mouth of Boone's Creek, adjoined William Bean's, who was the first permanent white settler West of the Alleghany Mountains.

Joseph Boon was granted (State of North Carolina, Grant #5011) 228 acres of land for his service as a soldier in the Continental Army of the state. (Ordered by Sec. of State, Joseph Glasgow at Raleigh, Nov. 30, 1797, and signed by Glasgow.) Joseph Boon assigned within contents to Joshua Wise of Murfreesboro, N. Car. on 8th of Dec. 1799. Thos. Outland and Sampson Futrell witnessed his signature.

Thomas Deaves, guardian of Orphans of Joshua Wise, signed over all rights and title of Wise's heirs unto William Outlaw on Oct. 30, 1805. Witness: Hilliary Morriss, Seth Outlaw.

Thomas Deaves received 20 pounds and 1 shilling in full pay. I believe this is called a warrant and among the old, brown, crisp, and tattered papers which were being sorted, laminated, and put in folders and card indexed at the Archives in 1971.

Family Record

This record was found in the back of a book 'THE BOONE FAMILY' by Hazel Atterbury Spraker. Ralph Boone, a first-cousin, once removed, lent me the book and allowed me to take it back to California with me to copy. It meant a lot to me to be trusted that much as I knew the book was very special to him. I shall always have the most loving and special thoughts of Ralph and Violet Boone of Erin, Tennessee.
